

POLICE ARREST YOUTHS TRYING TO SELL GOODS

Two Davenporters Made Rounds on Second Avenue to Sell Clothing—Suits Found in Barn.

Thomas Hines, 1025 Locust street, Davenport, and Harold Snider, 732 East Ninth street, Davenport, youths about 18 years of age, were scheduled to be turned over to the Davenport police today by the Rock Island department on charges of robbery.

They were arrested here yesterday by Detectives Dennis Bennett and Charles Ginnane as the result of their alleged efforts to peddle stolen clothing to Second avenue merchants.

Hines and Snider entered several Second avenue stores and said that they had seven new suits of men's clothing and seven extra pairs of trousers that they would sell cheap. They did not have the clothing with them, but were "just taking orders," they said. Detectives Bennett and Ginnane rounded them up and took them to the police station.

Find Stolen Goods.
Yesterday afternoon Detective Bennett went to Davenport and accompanied by Detective John Kinney of the Davenport department, went to Snider's home. They found the clothing hidden in a barn on the Snider place.

The clothing is all new and was said to have been stolen from the M. L. Parker company department store of Davenport some time ago. The youths had small chance to escape since they were immediately reported to the police by the merchants to whom they had attempted to sell the clothing.
